Former patient lost mum, dad and brother to disease

Riding out to fight cancer

A FORMER cancer patient who lost his mother, father and twin brother to the disease is raising thousands for the charity that helped him get the all-clear.

Mick Pilling will be pedalling 300 miles from London to Paris in four days to raise £1,800 for Macmillan Cancer Support.

The 58-year-old will be the only cancer patient out of 104 cyclists setting off on the ride on July 3 – and he's dedicating the ride to a friend who died.

Mick decided to raise the money for Macmillan because of the support they provided when he lost his mother Renata, who died aged 74, father John who died aged 81 and twin brother Alan who died aged 52 between 1998 and 2005.

He said: "I want to help Macmillan to get the money they need to help people like me and my family."

"The more publicity there is the more people will help the cause by giving donations."

Mick, of Bishop's Court, Haverhill, is dedicating the ride to his friend Rowland Boys who died, aged 31, on January 5, 2011 of head and neck cancer.

He will be riding with a picture of Rowland on the front of his bike. He met him climbing Ben Nevis in May last year in another fundraising event for

Residents get fit without leaving their seats

Keep your seat: Havebury residents get fit in their chairs as the housing partnership's chief executive Karen Mayhew, right, shows them how it's done.

AN affordable homes provider is running a series of fun chair-based exercise classes to help improve its residents' fitness and to prevent falls.

The Havebury Housing Partnership's classes are aimed at older people and those with mobility issues, and are taking place at Havebury's sheltered housing schemes across Haverhill and surrounding villages.

Karen Mayhew, Havebury chief executive, said: "The classes feature simple, gentle techniques which improve flexibility, circulation and movement, as well as enhancing fitness.

"The classes have been a huge hit with participants reporting improved mobility and fitness levels as well as increased confidence."

Mrs Mayhew added: "It is vital we do as much as we can to prevent the likelihood of people having falls, as the physical and emotional consequences can be very damaging.

"All too often, falls are seen as an inevitable stage of the aging process, but this is does not have to be the case.

"These classes are an important step forward in helping to prevent falls and the misery they can bring."

The classes are open to Havebury residents for free and members of the public for a small fee. Havebury, which has an office in House Manor Road, Haverhill, is a non-profit association which manages 6,000 homes in West Suffolk. To book a class, contact Pat Spring on (01440) 763866.

Warning over man seen near schools

PARENTS have been told by police not to panic after they received reports of a man acting suspiciously near two primary schools.

Haverhill police last Friday received a call from a member of the public who had spotted a man behaving oddly in the Chivers Road and Burton End area of town.

The caller reported that the individual was looking towards Burton End Primary School from the rear.

Police officers alerted the

school in School Lane, which in turn informed nearby Clements Primary in Greenfields Way. A letter was then sent out to parents asking them to take any necessary precautions.

PC Will Wright of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team said: "We received a call from a member of the public reporting a man looking toward the school from the back end. He was not challenged but looked suspicious.

"A colleague then alerted schools and they sent out letters to explain the situation and prevent false rumours and worry spreading.

"We have patrolled the area and there have been no repeat complaints or further sightings of the individual, but we will continue to keep our eyes open.

"We must be sensible about this. Our advice to parents is to continue to be vigilant and if they see anything suspicious to call it in.

"We are not here to cause panic and the letters were designed to keep people informed in the right way."

Goffrey Mason, whose sons Joshua, six, and Dominic, eight, attend Clements, said he received the letter and was concerned.

He said: "Parents are very worried about the situation. The letter said there was suspicious activity near the school and that the police are aware.

"We have been advised to take care when dropping children off at school."

Anyone who sees anything out of the ordinary in the area should contact police on (01284) 774100.

Road accident casualty treated at scene of crash

A CASUALTY was treated by paramedics at the scene of a road accident in Haverhill on Tuesday evening. Firefighters and paramedics attended the incident at The Keep, Haverhill, at about 7pm.

Fire crews from Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds arrived at the scene of the crash, which involved one car.

They were not needed as paramedics released the casualty from the vehicle and treated them at scene.

Blaze in scrubland

A FIRE crew was called to a blaze which had taken hold in scrubland. Firefighters from Haverhill received a call at 6.35pm on Tuesday reporting the fire on land off Ruffles Road in the town. One engine attended the 8 sq m patch of grassland and two water back packs were used. The fire was extinguished shortly before 7pm.

Grill pan fire dealt with

A FIRE affecting a grill pan was extinguished by firefighters. The incident in the kitchen of a property in Elm Close in Haverhill took place on Sunday. Fire engines from the town were called at 9.22am.

300-mile ride for man who hasn't been on bike for years

A MAN who has not been on a bike for years says 'nothing can prepare him' for a 300-mile cycle ride to raise money for charity.

Chris Kell is one of 30 cyclists taking part in the Arch to Arc 2011 today. He has raised £1,000 for the James Whale Fund for Kidney Cancer.

The group will be pedaling for four days to cover the 300 miles from Marble Arch, London, to the Arc de Triomphe, Paris.

Before he started his training six months ago, Chris, 46, had not been on a bike for years.

He said: "Nothing can prepare me for the 90 miles on the first day. I'm cycling regularly and trying to get on the bike as much as possible and do as many miles as I can to build up my stamina."

As part of his training, Chris bikes 20 miles to work and back each day from his home in Shudy Camps, Haverill.

"I am also using the ride as an opportunity to get fit," said the father-of-two. "Cycling is such a great way to do that. I found it very hard to begin with and it has got easier as time goes on."

Chris said: "Part of the reason I got interested was because of the work I do developing new medicines and striving to develop new cancer drugs. It complements the charity in raising awareness about the disease. It was that connection that was part of the reason it was interested in helping out."

"I would definitely like to do it again next year. I'm also looking to do the London to Cambridge bike ride coming up soon. I feel like I've started something that will hopefully continue."

The James Whale Fund for Kidney Cancer is a Cambridge-based charity.

It helps increase knowledge and awareness of kidney cancer and supporting research into the causes, prevention and treatment of the disease.

Macmillan.

In 2004 Mick was diagnosed with head and neck cancer and underwent a nine-hour operation to remove an 8cm tumour from his jaw.

He also had seven weeks of radiotherapy and still suffers from the side-effects six years later.

"I think Macmillan are the best thing since sliced bread and I do what I can when I can to help them because they have helped me," said the grandfather-of-three.

In training for the ride, Mick cycles from his home in Haverhill to Addenbrooke's Hospital every day, covering 34 miles in two and a half hours.

Mike works as an administrator for the bowel screening service at Addenbrooke's and also helps run a support group for head and neck patients.

He has been a trained Macmillan counsellor offering support and guidance to other cancer patients for two years.

And is a member of three steering committees for Anglia Cancer network, improving treatments and services for patients.

Macmillan offers practical, emotional and financial support to people living with or affected by cancer.

Warning on garage and shed thefts

GARAGE and shed owners are being warned by police to do everything they can to avoid a seasonal crime spree.

PC Will Wright from the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team said homeowners need to be aware that the numbers of thefts from outbuildings are at their highest during summer months, and that precautions must be taken.

He said: "We want to curtail this historic seasonal rise in this type of crime.

"We would urge people to make sure doors and windows are secured by using locks. It is also always a good idea to employ motion-sensor lights where possible. Do not tempt would-be thieves. And ring the police if you spot anything suspicious or out of the ordinary in your neighbourhood.

"Crime in Haverhill is down from this time last year, as is anti-social behaviour, and we need the public's cooperation to reduce it further."

Anyone with concerns can call Suffolk Police on (01284) 774100.

Children get taste of the good life

How does your garden grow?: Children from Thurlow pre-school working on the vegetable patch.

CHILDREN have been showing off their green fingers by creating a pre-school vegetable patch.

Pupils from Thurlow Pre-school have spent the summer term growing their own vegetables in a special section of their new outdoor play area.

The patch includes raised beds for the children to plant, look after and finally eat the foods that they grow.

Lynsey Parsons, deputy leader, said: "All the children have had a great time preparing the beds, planting the seeds and eating the vegetables – especially the healthy chips we made with the potatoes.

"It's been great for them to learn about how different vegetables grow and to try new foods." The gardening area is only part of the outdoor development, which also includes a new play road for toy cars and trikes.

The Pre-school in Thurlow Road, has places available for September. Contact Helen on (01440) 783 688.

But now the Essex business has officially acquired the whole of Yellow Star, with only 24 of the 50-strong workforce to be kept.

The new ADL Enviro 200 single-deck buses were launched by Bill Hiron, managing director of Stephensons of Essex, who said the purchase proved the company's commitment to the area.

Mr Hiron said: "We stepped in at very short notice to rescue Burton's bus services, and have sourced vehicles from a variety of sources to keep the show on the road.

"However, we are grateful for the continuing support of our customers and other stakeholders, and are delighted to be able to demonstrate our long-term commitment to local services so quickly."

Cllr Guy McGregor, Suffolk County Council's portfolio holder for transport, said: "We have worked hard with Stephensons to ensure continuity of services for Suffolk residents, and we are delighted that they have invested so quickly in brand new buses for the area.

"Bus travel is good for the environment and eases congestion on our roads, and I welcome the investment into Suffolk's public transport services."

Burtons operated in the Haverhill area for 60 years, and most recently was based in Duddery Hill.

Since the collapse, concerns have been raised that the rising cost of fuel is making life almost impossible for the transport industry.

However, administrator Simon Plant said: "The transport sector is being squeezed by fuel costs and low margins but that doesn't immediately mean business failure.

"Keeping an eye on cash and profit margins is essential for the industry right now.

"After negotiations with Stephensons, we were able to secure a sale of the order book assets and routes and ensured that 24 members of staff kept their jobs."

Burglars raid vending machine and steal laptop

A LAPTOP and cash have been stolen from a business after thieves broke in through rear windows.

The burglary took place in Rookwood Way, Haverhill, between 5.30pm on Calls in relation to the incident should

Pupils learn about the appliance of science

CHILDREN at a Haverhill primary school have had fun getting their hands dirty while experiencing the world of science.

Special guests from across the region visited students over two school days at New Cangle Primary in Chapple Drive, for a special science week.

The Babraham Institute – a biomedical research centre based in South Cambridgeshire – ran workshops on the process of separating mixtures called chromatography, while the scientific charity the Institute of Physics demonstrated how electricity works and Napp Pharmaceuticals showed how to make ice cream without having to use a freezer.

Hannah Tyzack, acting deputy headteacher, said: "The aim of the week was to enthuse and inspire children in the world of science."

"Our children were able to see what it means to be a scientist and they really enjoyed all the different activities."

Other highlights included fingerprint workshops, a chance to use microscopes and the visit of a snake, which the youngsters were able to handle.

These activities were complemented by science lessons in the classrooms taught by the school's teachers.

Police appeal after woman reports rape

A WOMAN was allegedly raped and robbed by a man on Haverhill's Recreation Ground.

Police were contacted at around 2.20am on Sunday by the 19-year-old woman who reported she had been attacked on the public space in Recreation Road.

Officers attended, located the woman and spoke to her. A 20-year-old man was arrested at an address in Haverhill a short time later and was taken into custody at the Martlesham Police Investigation Centre to be interviewed by officers.

Police have now issued an appeal for witnesses or anyone with information to come forward.

The area where the offence was alleged to have occurred was cordoned off on Sunday morning while a forensic examination got under way at the scene. The cordon was later lifted.

The 20-year-old man was released on police bail to attend the Bury St Edmunds Police Investigation Centre on July 19.

Police are asking anyone who may have been in the area around the time of the incident, who saw or heard anything that may help the enquiry, to call Det Sgt Stuart Jeans on (01473)

The Recreation Ground is one of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Policing Team's top priorities for the town at the request of local residents.

The area has been a hotspot for anti-social behaviour and crime over recent years with numerous complaints over youths drinking, making noise and forming large groups in the area.

As a result, the Recreation Ground was earmarked for greater focus by police, along with the Chalkstone estate and Strasbourg Square areas of town, with officers meeting with residents and patrolling the areas.

Uniform issue is causing concern

Sir, I write as a member of the general public who, on talking to a number of friends recently, finds that a constant topic comes up in conversation – this being the latest school uniform of Samuel Ward. Given the current economic climate, I was astonished to learn that the cost of a new school uniform is £60 for a pinstripe suit which includes a 'special' blue shirt, all only available from Samuel Ward, and the new PE uniform is priced at £40, which includes a grey 'hoodie'. Money not always easily available when, perhaps, parents have two or three children to consider plus the replacement costs. Obviously Samuel Ward appears to have ignored Government advice on school uniforms, which indicates that schools can help limit the expense of uniforms by choosing a colour scheme rather than a full uniform or by ensuring that the uniform chosen is widely available in high street shops rather than a sole supplier.

Advice is also that such schools must not discriminate on the grounds of gender, race, disability, sexual orientation or belief, which would suggest that young ladies should also be wearing ties with their uniform. However, on the mention of a pinstripe suit and a 'hoodie' it perhaps conjures up in the imagination the gangster era of the 1920s in America and the prohibition of alcohol, not that alcohol appears to be prohibited to some of the youngsters from what I have seen lately. Perhaps Samuel Ward should have the rename of Samuel Ward Academy for Gangsters or S.W.A.G for short, which would appear quite apt given the amount of money they are taking with regards to their new uniform.

I must say that I am in favour of a school uniform but I also support the line that it needs to be generally available in high street shops, which doesn't appear to be the case with S.W.A.G, although they are not alone in that aspect.

Timetable change has hit students

Sir, In my view Samuel Ward Academy is behaving very selfishly with regard to sixth form education in Haverhill. My daughter is currently a sixth form student at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, but has some of her lessons at Samuel Ward. Due to the current changes that are taking place at Samuel Ward in moving each year up ahead of their start year, only weeks before the summer break, it has also meant a change in my daughter's timetable, meaning that some of her lessons will clash, because the new timetable at Castle Manor does not start until September.

There appears to be a lack of communication between the two schools. Castle Manor did not appear to be

Wartime misery? What rubbish

Sir, Having read Mr Elliot's letter with the comments 'wartime misery' I had to write to say "what a load of rubbish." Where did you get your information from? It is nothing like today. I was born in 1940 in London and was one of 10, and after my father returned home from the war he was the only bread winner until some of us grew up to help. There were no hand-outs and no family benefits like today. Also in 1950, we still had gas lights and our parents did not moan; they just got on with it and made do with what they had. People should stop moaning and get on with life.

We've also got a parking problem

Sir, While it is commendable to read that police are cracking down on illegal parking in the High Street etc, could we suggest they might like to look into the illegal parking of visitors to Downs Place. The occupants of the garages on the access road to Downs Place fought for years to stop parking and allow easy access to the garages. In the end we successfully got double yellow lines. Since the construction of the medical care centre taking over the old car park, once again visitors' vehicles are parking on the yellow lines and causing obstruction.

Tree deaths such a coincidence

Sir, What an amazing coincidence – just days before planning permission was approved for the building of new homes on the Australian Arms site (which will directly overlook my rear garden) all four eucalyptus trees, planted by the former landlord and well established, mysteriously and simultaneously managed to die off.

Landlord left disturbed by pub break-in

Appeal: White Horse landlord Doug Bollen has urged people to help track down the burglars who raided his pub.

Picture: Duncan Lamont 747220.

AN angry landlord says he is "disturbed" by the lengths criminals will go to, even in small communities, to steal from others.

Doug Bollen runs the White Horse pub and restaurant in Hollow Hill, Withersfield, which was targeted by burglars in the early hours of Saturday.

Raiders broke in through the rear kitchen doors between midnight and 7am and stole about £1,600 from the till and change float.

Mr Bollen, who discovered the theft later that morning, said: "I was shocked and I was angry. But also a little disturbed – this is a small village and a friendly village and you don't expect this to happen here.

"I have been the landlord here for over a year and there have never been any problems before. I am putting up a reward of £500 for any information that leads to the prosecution of someone for the theft.

"I would urge people to come forward with any information about the offence, however small."

Calls in relation to the incident should be made to Sgt

Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crime-stoppers on 0800 555 111.

The burglary follows a similar case in Haverhill on June 15, when the Raj Mahal Indian Restaurant in High Street was broken into late at night. Thieves stole £800 from a charity box and £2,100 of takings from the till.

A reward has also been offered in that instance by manager Amir Hussain for the recovery of the cash.

Anyone with information should contact Suffolk Police on (01284) 774100 quoting reference HH/11/1265.

Haverhill

ST MARY'S HAVERHILL

THE Christian festival of Pentecost is regarded as the birthday of the Christian church. It is when Christians celebrate the gift of the Holy Spirit.

This year, at Pentecost, the Bishop of Dunwich was welcomed to St Mary's Haverhill, where he confirmed candidates from the Clare Deanery (Haverhill, Stourhead and Stour Valley) as full members of the Christian community. The congregation celebrated with them their first communion. In the same service, Rev Janice Ward, previously curate at St Mary's Haverhill, was welcomed in her new role as assistant priest.

An exhibition of modern and abstract art was held at St Mary's Haverhill on Saturday. Local artist Christina Howard, who was recently featured working with the Wednesday for Women's group in Haverhill, offered her paintings for sale, with commission to the church.

Sunday (Trinity 1) marks the 150th anniversary of the first edition of the hymnbook Hymns Ancient & Modern. To celebrate this, the 9.30am morning service will use hymns selected from this hymnbook. These will be accompanied by the church's music group. A choral evensong will be sung at 5pm, followed by an informal tea. All are welcome.

BENEFICE OF HAVERHILL & WITHERSFIELD

ALL creatures great and small attended church in Withersfield last Sunday with their owners for a special pets' thanksgiving service to give thanks for all the pleasure owners get from them.

The pet service has become an annual event in recent years and is a popular service for families.

A variety of animals was brought along by church members for the special blessing, which was taken by the Rev Janice Ward, assistant priest in the Benefice of Haverhill & Withersfield. Her family also attended with their dog Sky.

HAVERHILL VOLUNTEER CENTRE

Opportunity is knocking for our area

A REGIONAL enterprise chief has encouraged the people of Haverhill to grasp 'world-class' opportunities for growth - or risk watching them go elsewhere.

Tim Passmore, former chief executive of development agency Choose Suffolk and current board member of Norfolk and Suffolk Local Enterprise Partnership, said the area could be massively boosted if a bio-sciences hub was created in west Suffolk.

Mr Passmore, who was addressing local business people at a meeting of thebestofHaverhill at the Days Inn, added that Haverhill had changed dramatically in recent years and had become a dynamic, forward-looking town which Suffolk should be proud of.

Tentative proposals have already been aired in the county for an international cluster of bio-sciences and regenerative medicine technologies to be based around Haverhill and Bury St

Edmunds, where current businesses could become involved and spin-offs for other industries could follow.

It is hoped that any firm plan would rival the Babraham Institute in South Cambridgeshire in its success.

Mr Passmore, who is also leader of Mid Suffolk District Council, stated that Haverhill could also benefit from a potential growth in the number of equine businesses around nearby Newmarket, which could bring more money into the region.

He said: "Both opportunities need to be grasped before continental or other international competitors get in first."

And although Suffolk currently has cheaper land rates and rents than many other areas of the UK, the Conservative politician was keen to stress that development should still be achieved "tastefully and with full regard to the environment".

Help floods in for fire couple

Grateful for your help: David Sayer outside his ruined bungalow.

Picture: Warren Gunn 745174.

DOZENS of offers of furniture have flooded in for a couple who were left with nothing after fire destroyed their bungalow.

The Weekly News revealed last week that David Sayer and his partner Sue Broomfield had been made homeless after two fires in a weekend hit their home in Haverhill's Crowland Road.

David, 43, and Sue, 42, were given a temporary house by Suffolk County Council but had nothing with which to fill it after the blaze.

They turned to community projects charity REACH, which runs a furniture bank from Hollands Road in Haverhill offering disadvantaged people the chance to get back on their feet.

REACH was able to deliver a double bed, wardrobe, chest of drawers, table and chairs, coffee table, sofa, cutlery and fridge, and since the story appeared, have been contacted by a number of generous members of the community – from as far afield as Cambridge – with more donations.

Henry Wilson, director at REACH, told the Weekly News: "There have been lots of people coming to us and saying they wanted to help David and Sue."

"There have been offers of everything from a tumble drier to a 32-inch flat-screen TV."

"As soon as I saw the story on the front page I knew we would be busy. I have come to expect this level of generosity in Haverhill and it is so nice to see."

"All we are doing at REACH is reallocating things people have finished with and helping others move on with their lives."

The Weekly News also received donations for the couple, including a freezer, microwave and bedding.

David said: "We have received no end of stuff and it has been such a help."

"The situation we are in at the moment may only be temporary but it is so much better than what it could have been."

"It is nice to know that there are people out there who care. Thank you to everyone who has helped."

The first fire took place on Friday June 10 followed by another, which police have said was suspected arson, on Sunday June 12.

The couple did have basic contents insurance but due to ongoing investigations by the emergency services are unable to claim at this stage and cannot gain entry to see if anything is salvageable.

For more information about REACH, phone (01440) 712950 or email info@reach-cp.org.

Panthers spring into action to show off cheerleading skills

PINK panther cheerleaders took to the floor once more at an annual dance showcase.

Groups from West Suffolk, Cambridgeshire and Hertfordshire joined together to perform at the event in Tattersalls, Newmarket, last Saturday.

Members of Pink Panther cheerleading were joined by branches of Sekani Street dance and Flex Gymnastics for the 2011 showcase.

Steph Stevens, who runs cheerleading classes in Haverhill, said: "Everyone had a great day with four different shows being held on the day."

"Around 300 children participated, and were aged from as young as three years old up to 18 years old."

Pink Panthers regularly perform at events around the area, including competitions, festivals and their own demonstrations.

Cheerleading combines different dance styles, pom-pom technique, cheers, basic stunts and tumbling.

Miss Stevens added: "I would encourage youngsters to come and join our cheerleading squads for a fun and energetic new hobby."

Clubs take place weekly in term time. Anyone interested should phone (01353) 741249 or visit www.pinkpanthercheerleading.com or www.sekani.co.uk for details of their nearest club.

Well done: Alex Keep presents PC Will Wright with his certificate.

Safety drive sees PC rewarded for hard work

A POLICE officer has been recognised for his sterling efforts to keep children safe on the region's roads.

PC Will Wright from the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood team was presented with a framed certificate by the Red Cross to note his contribution to the community through bike safety classes and fundraising.

Alex Keep, chair of the Suffolk's volunteer branch of the Red Cross, said: "We wanted to applaud PC Wright's humanitarian approach and the amount of his own time that he has given up to help youngsters."

"His aim has been to make young people feel safer on roads and to keep an eye out for friends – efforts which have dovetailed well with the work of the Red Cross."

For the past two years, PC Wright has led school programmes to teach theory lessons on road skills as well as taking children out to teach them manoeuvres on bicycles.

He said: "I have noticed a real improvement in the attitudes of youngsters and their parents to road safety on and off bikes."

Senior officer heads for top role in Jersey

A FORMER Haverhill police patrol sergeant is finally leaving Suffolk after more than 30 years of service across the county.

Stewart Gull, who rose to the rank of Suffolk Constabulary Assistant Chief Constable, is leaving the force to join Jersey Police.

After joining the police cadets in September 1979 and serving as a regular officer in his hometown of Lowestoft, Mr Gull moved on to Leiston in 1983, where he spent several weeks policing the miners dispute in the North of England.

He then returned to Lowestoft to begin his CID career, before being posted to Haverhill in 1987. Mr Gull said: "It is the farthest place in Suffolk from Lowestoft that I could have been posted."

"However, I had a great two years as a patrol sergeant before being posted to Ipswich as a detective sergeant, which allowed me to develop my detective skills further by getting involved with both serious and major crimes."

Moving on: Stewart Gull is leaving after more than 30 years' service in Suffolk.

Later roles included being an inspector, detective inspector and superintendent in Bury St Edmunds, working with the City of London Police at the height of the IRA terrorist threat, and qualifying as a hostage negotiator for the Western Area command team.

He will perhaps be remembered most for overseeing the deposition of the bodies of Soham youngsters Holly Wells and Jessica Chapman in Wangford, near Lakenheath in 2002, as well as leading the 2006 investigation into the murder of five young women in Ipswich.

Mr Gull, set to be named Head of Crime for the Jersey States Police, added: "Having served in both uniform and CID at every rank across Suffolk is probably a rare occurrence but it has made me a better all-round cop."

"Although excited by the prospect of this new challenge, I will be very sad to leave Suffolk in July, having worked here as man and boy for over 30 years."

Charity calls for breastfeeding mentors

WOMEN are being given the chance to make a difference by becoming part of a local breastfeeding network.

This week is National Breastfeeding Week and mothers are urged to volunteer to train as breastfeeding helpers to new mothers in the Haverhill area.

Kirsty Cummins, local support worker for the Breastfeeding Network charity, said: "We are looking for mums to become volunteer peer supporters in Haverhill and the local area."

"We would love to hear from ladies who have breastfed one or more babies and want to help other mums."

The training will be free and a creche will be provided.

Miss Cummins added: "The course is college accredited and provides great work experience and references if applying for jobs in the future."

The course will take two hours on Friday mornings starting in September. After training, participants are expected to spend at least two hours a week for a year supporting new mothers at local breastfeeding groups, at the children's centre or in clinics. Former students have gone on to work on the Supporterline national helpline (0300 100 0210) as well as volunteer at West Suffolk Hospital.

The training programme has been funded by Charlotte Tillbrook, manager at Cartwheels children's centre, which hosts Haverhill's breastfeeding group on Monday mornings from 10.30am until noon. For more information, contact Miss Cummins on 07813 019810.

Haverhill Charity Golf Classic

Haverhill Golf Club & Haverhill & District Rotary Club, will be holding this year's Charity Golf Classic on Saturday 25th June.

As of last year, the main beneficiary will be St Nicholas Hospice. To date the annual golf day has raised over £125,000. This would not be possible without the generous support from local people and businesses. Special mention this year must go to our main sponsors, MPG PRINTWISE who always contribute so much to local projects, SAFFRON INSURANCE, FAREWELL MY PET and THE WILLOW BUSINESS CENTRE.

The event would not be the same without donations and contributions from local businesses.

Once again CHAPMANS & SON have donated a flat screen TV for the main raffle.

It will be a fun day for all the golfers. As well as main prizes there will be nearest the pin prizes on all short holes, a longest drive competition and a putting competition worth £100. A free BBQ will be held on the 9th hole courtesy of J R HUMPHREY Family Butchers of Clare and a 'double your money' opportunity if you hit the green on the 16th with your tee shot.

The day will conclude with entertainment from Comedy Stage Hypnotist Ian Dee, which will be followed by an auction where the main items are TICKETS TO THE WORLD SUPERBIKES AT SILVERSTONE donated by Paul & Karen Wilby, a FERARRI TRACK DAY donated by The Willow Business Centre and tickets to NEWMARKET RACES.

Places are still available for golfers to enter - forms are available from the Golf Club and on the website at www.club-noticeboard.co.uk

Couple, 85, enjoy a second big day

BY ADAM LUKE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUPLE who have been together for 47 years celebrated their union with a church blessing in front of their whole family.

Douglas and Eileen Towns of Shearman Court in Haverhill were the stars of the show at the ceremony in Sturmer Church on Saturday.

The 85-year-olds, who lived in Sturmer up until two months ago, married at Halstead Register Office on June 16, 1972, and have been together since 1963.

Eileen, a former shop worker, had wanted to renew their vows in recent years but it was not until Christmas that her former farm worker husband asked her if she would like a church blessing.

And almost 39 years to the day they were pronounced man and wife, they were blessed by Rev Michael Hewitt in front of their five children Marilyn, Christina, Graham, Valerie and Maria, eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. As a surprise, their grandsons Mark and Adam Basham hired a Rolls Royce Silver Spur to take Eileen to church and afterwards to take them to their reception at Shearman Court, where 40 people attended.

Eileen said: "The day went beautifully. It was a lovely day and it was extra special to have all the family there."

"Even my daughter Valerie came from Brisbane, Australia, where she now lives." Other special guests were Douglas's sister Doris Holden, 91, and Eileen's sister Sheila Grant, 84.

Pull your boots on for birthday walk

Get out those walking shoes – Bridge the Gap is back and this year celebrates its 10th anniversary. CHRIS ELLIOTT reports.

Family day out: Zal, Lee and Danny White on last year's walk.

IT'S back, and this time the iconic balloons are birthday ones. Bridge the Gap, the hugely popular fundraising walk organised by our sister paper, the Cambridge News, has officially been launched for 2011.

And with this year a special one, the event's 10th anniversary, organisers are hoping for a record-breaking turnout, and a record-breaking amount of money for the coffers of the two benefiting charities, Arthur Rank Hospice and Press Relief, the News community fund.

The date is Sunday, September 11, and the route again takes in some of Cambridge's most famous colleges and bridges.

Last year, the city streets and the grounds of the colleges saw 2,700 people taking part – individuals, couples and buggy-pushing families, carrying Bridge the Gap's trademark balloons.

The 2011 charity walk was launched last week at a gathering hosted by Bridge the Gap's main sponsor, The Cambridge Building Society.

Andy Gough, chairman of Press Relief, told the audience: "The very first walk was launched as a joint venture with our great friends at Arthur Rank Hospice, and of course with the enormous help and support of Cambridge University.

"This year marks a decade of walks and the event has truly established itself as a much-loved fixture in the annual calendar of Cambridge community life."

He said that in its nine years so far, Bridge the Gap had raised more than £310,000 for local good causes, and had attracted the participation of more than 20,000 people.

The money raised had not only been used to support Arthur Rank and Press Relief, but a number of other charities, including East Anglia's Children's Hospices, the Teenage Cancer Trust, Cambridge Samaritans, the Papworth Trust's Saxongate Appeal and the local air ambulance.

As well as the building society and Cambridge University, backing has also come from Cambridge Press and organisations such as Cambridge Rotary Club.

Lynn Morgan, chief executive of the Arthur Rank Hospice Charity, said: "It's a great event, supported by emblematic organisations, and very Cambridge-centric."

She said the charity needed to find £1.2 million a year to pay for the end-of-life care services it provided, and that Bridge the Gap was a vital contributor to that budget.

More information about taking part in the walk is available by going online at www.bridgethegapwalk.org, emailing info@bridgethegapwalk.org, or telephoning (01223) 723115.

Students show off skills

A PAIR of teenage construction students drew a crowd at a county show when they showed off traditional flintwork techniques.

Jake Manning from Haverhill and Adam Hudson from Great Wratting were part of a team from West Suffolk College appearing at the Suffolk Show in Trinity Park, Ipswich.

The building services students gave a demonstration in which they built an impressive wall with carefully cut flint and cobbles.

Gayle Wade from the college said: "They worked hard for two days on the project and the demonstration attracted a lot of interest."

West Suffolk College also took part in Suffolk Skills competitions at the annual event, taking home awards for the electrical installation, carpentry and joinery categories, as well as brickwork. Meanwhile, college staff were awarded the prize for the best working exhibition for skills in painting and decorating.

Parking crackdown is reaping rewards

OFFICERS in charge of an illegal car parking clamp-down say they have noticed a reduction in the number of offences.

PC Will Wright of the Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team said that after the first week of police action, in which 220 warnings were placed on offending vehicles in the town centre, the second week saw only 70 issued.

He said this shows that the message is getting through to drivers who have blighted Queen Street and High Street by parking on pavements and double yellow lines for years.

He said: "Attitudes are definitely changing. People used to just park anywhere but now you can see them spending time to look for somewhere safe and legal to park."

"We would like to thank the public for their help and co-operation."

Insp Chris Galley added that the offences would be even clearer to keep on top of once the imminent repainting of double yellow lines was completed by Suffolk County Council.

After this is done, police will then move on from the "education" stage to "enforcement", when on-the-spot fines will be dished out.

The crackdown was taken after a public meeting of the Safer Neighbourhood Team two weeks ago when residents made it clear that something needed to be done.

PC Wright added: "I think the time has come when people have just had enough."

However, some Haverhill residents do not believe the campaign has done enough.

One man, who did not wish to be named, said: "We need a blanket ban on illegal parking throughout town."

Ellen - born prematurely- is now at the peak of fitness

SITTING on a vertiginous scree slope, half-way up a mountain, Ellen Brogan was wet, tired and totally terrified. In the middle of the challenge of a lifetime – to scale 16 peaks in just eight days – the 24-year-old was on the verge of quitting.

"I sat down on a rock and thought 'That's it. I'm never getting off this mountain. In fact, I'm never going to move again,'" she admits. "It was so steep and so slippery; I didn't want to go up and I couldn't go down ... I was absolutely petrified."

But one thought spurred Ellen on: the knowledge that she was raising both cash and awareness for the premature baby charity Bliss.

The cause couldn't be closer to Ellen's heart. Herself born dangerously premature, the first weeks of her life were a battle: tiny, weak and with fragile lungs which kept collapsing, doctors feared she would die.

"I was one of the lucky ones," Ellen explains. "I

Ellen spent weeks battling for life after being born prematurely. Now the newly-qualified doctor has scaled 16 peaks in just eight days to raise cash for a baby charity. Here she talks to Alice Ryan.

survived and I've gone on to live a normal, happy, healthy life: the only thing I've been left with are a few scars from the chest drains.

"I've just finished medical school and, while I was training, elected to work in a neonatal unit; I wanted to go back to the place where my life started, in a way. It was an amazing, inspirational place.

"The first time I saw a baby being resuscitated it was frightening, but uplifting too, because that baby's life was saved.

"I knew I wanted to do something myself to help all the other babies born too soon, too small or too sick – so that's how we came to climb the 16 peaks."

These days, thanks to medical advances, babies born up to 16 weeks premature can survive; Ellen decided to climb a mountain for each week of pregnancy those babies miss out on.

Joined by her brother John and friends Tim and Ben Colwill, the team spent almost a year planning and training and then, last month, headed up to a very damp and foggy Lake District to start climbing.

Aiming to raise £5,000 for Bliss, as well as drawing public attention to the charity, Ellen admits it was a long, hard slog.

"It was absolutely worth it, though," she adds. "We all knew we were doing it for a vital cause. One in every nine babies in the UK is born premature or sick – that's more than 80,000 every year."

Looking back at photographs of her newborn self – a tiny little scrap in an incubator, covered in wires and tubes – Ellen admits it's hard to believe that baby is actually her.

"My mum had only just taken maternity leave when I arrived unexpectedly, eight weeks early. I was 4lb which, by today's standards, is a really good weight for a premature baby – but that was in 1986; medicine has advanced a lot since then.

"I know it was tough and go for at least the first 48 hours. My mum had a caesarean and wasn't well enough to come and see me, so she asked the nurses if they could take a picture, but I was too poorly even to have my photo taken.

"I had three pneumothoraces – when the lung collapses. It was a very frightening time for my parents. My dad was there on one occasion when the doctors were struggling to stabilise me and he was very scared I wouldn't pull through."

Ellen, who comes from Aldreth, spent her first weeks in the incubator, on drips and a ventilator; eventually, at six weeks old, she was finally allowed home.

From that moment on, her health went from strength to strength.

It was while a pupil at King's School Ely that Ellen first considered training as a doctor.

"I absolutely loved being at King's; I still miss it now," she laughs. "I wanted to go into medicine for a long time, since I was really quite young."

Going on to do five years at medical school, Ellen says her time seconded to the neonatal ward was life-changing;

Fight for life: Ellen when she was in an incubator shortly after her birth.

Picture: CP

her long-term ambition is now to specialise in special baby care.

Knowing she would have a gap in her schedule this May (between finishing med school and starting her first job, at a hospital in Leicester), Ellen decided it was the perfect opportunity to set about the 16-peak challenge, A Peak for a Week.

On the very first day, she and the rest of the team had planned to scale the highest peak of them all, Scafell Pike at 978 metres.

"We'd all done quite a lot of hiking before, so we thought, even though it would be tough, the challenge would be achievable," she says.

"That first day turned out to be one of the scariest. The weather was absolutely awful.

"We got a fair distance up and then the conditions just became too dangerous and we had to turn back; other people were going past us, back down the mountain, saying 'Don't carry on - it's awful!'"

Throughout their expedition, the team had radio contact with a support vehicle, driven by friend Peter Miles, from St Neots. The weather was far from kind, with thick fog, high winds and even hail blighting their climbs.

While Ellen says her biggest challenge was ascending that scree slope, brother John, 22, says day five - climbing both Great Gable (899m) and Pillar (892m) in one day, when already exhausted - was 'really tough'.

"Getting to the bottom of one peak and knowing you've got to climb another before you can go home isn't easy," agrees Tim.

All the team say eating sufficient calories was tricky too.

"I never want to see another Mars bar again," laughs Ellen. "The guys had to take on 6,000 calories a day and I was on 5,000.

"If any one of us hadn't eaten for a while, one of the team would say 'Come on, you should eat' - we had to, to keep our energy levels up."

Ellen says she couldn't have contemplated the eight-day endurance challenge without the other members of the team.

"If one of us got tired or down, the others would pick us up again. It was very much a team effort."

Thanks to the poor weather conditions, the climbers didn't even have the promise of a stunning view to spur them to the tops of the mountains.

"A lot of the time it was like climbing into dense cloud. When we finally got to the top of Scafell Pike, at the second attempt, we literally couldn't see a thing."

Though running a day behind schedule, Ellen and the boys pressed on and still managed to conquer all 16 peaks in only eight days.

"When we finished, the first thing we did was go to a pub for a meal," she says.

"Tim and Ben were so hungry they each ordered - and ate - two whole main courses..."

Between them, the team have already raised in excess of £2,000, but their target is to reach £5,000.

"A lot of people said we were crazy to attempt A Peak for a Week," continues Ellen. "But we're hoping that now we've proved it's possible, that we could do it, more people will make a donation."

"As I know, premature birth can affect any family," adds Ellen, "and I would encourage anyone to support Bliss."

"Thanks to the care they provide and the ground-breaking research they fund, there can be a lot more happy endings like mine."

Premature birth – the facts

- One in every nine babies in the UK is born premature or sick. That is more than 80,000 babies every year.
- A premature baby is one born before 37 weeks' gestation.
- Babies born at 23 weeks or below have a 20 per cent chance of survival to discharge home; at 24 weeks have a 47 per cent chance; and at 25 weeks have a 67 per cent chance.

● 10.41 per cent of all babies born in England are admitted to neonatal care.

● On average, in intensive care a nurse spends 56 minutes in every hour providing direct care for a baby.

Changing lives

Bliss is the only national charity dedicated to improving the survival and long-term quality of life for babies born too soon, too small or too sick to cope on their own. Founded 30 years ago, the organisation offers guidance and information to families, funds ground-breaking research and campaigns for babies to receive the best possible level of care regardless of when and where they are born.

New appeal on libraries

COUNCILLORS involved in determining the future of Suffolk's libraries have recommended the cabinet continues to listen to suggestions from communities.

Suffolk County Council's scrutiny committee met at Endeavour House on Tuesday, June 14, to examine the council's review of the libraries service.

The evidence-gathering session saw the committee meet with parties involved in the council's consultation over the future of the county's libraries, including campaigners, those who have expressed an interest in running a library, senior officers and the councillor responsible for libraries.

Members of the public were also given the opportunity to express their views in an unusual move which allowed attendees to raise issues

BY JENNIE BAKER

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk which had not already been discussed in the meeting.

The committee has assembled a series of 10 recommendations, including advice that consideration continue to be given to ideas from communities on how services could be run.

The committee also gave its opinion that the distinction between county and community libraries outlined in the council's consultation paper is not a reasonable basis for policy.

It recommended the council should be clear with communities about the issues those interested in running the libraries were likely to raise, including staffing and legal matters, and the committee advised the council to clarify the role of mobile libraries.

The recommendations will inform the council cabinet's initial decisions on the future of Suffolk's library service, which will be taken in July.

Colin Hart, chairman of the council's scrutiny committee, said: "I would like to thank all the witnesses and members of the public who took the time and trouble to come and tell the committee of their concerns over the future of Suffolk's libraries."

"This was a valuable exercise in scrutinising an issue before decisions are taken and I hope and expect our recommendations will make a positive contribution to the new policy that is being developed."

Judy Terry, the council's cabinet member responsible for libraries, said: "I am extremely grateful for the comments from committee members, representatives of various campaign groups and those who have submitted bids."

"We're continuing to listen and will base future policy on exhaustive consultation with the people of Suffolk."

Golf club tees up a new car park

MEMBERS of Haverhill Golf Club are delighted with the smooth new surface – not on their greens, but their car park.

Mayor Maureen Byrne cut the ribbon before a lunch to celebrate the opening of the new-look facility and the end of a project which began last summer.

Haverhill member Len Adams was appointed project manager and was helped by the greenkeepers, led by head greenkeeper Glenn Norris and a team of volunteers.

The car park was closed during March and the club used spaces at The Woodlands Hotel and overflow car park at Sturmer Common thanks to Sturmer Parish Council.

Since the work was finished, the committee has seen visitor numbers rise by 20 per cent on this time last year, and 30 new members have joined since April. Earlier this month the committee invited all those who had been involved with the project to celebrate the completion of the car park upgrade at the club's Parklands Restaurant.

Texas make anniversary comeback

SCOTTISH rockers and Newmarket Nights returnees Texas will be performing at the racecourse tomorrow as part of the event's 25th anniversary year.

Formed back in 1986 (so it's a happy 25th to Texas, too!) the band have released 10 studio albums, including hits such as I Don't Want A Lover, Summer Sun, Black Eyed Boy and Say What You Want, and in 2006 performed at Newmarket to a 22,000-strong sell-out crowd. Their album White on Blonde in 1997 reached six-fold platinum status in the UK. They took their name from the 1984 Wim Wenders film Paris, Texas.

Despite singer Sharleen Spiteri's move towards a solo career and guitarist Ally McErlaine's illness (he collapsed but recovered from a brain aneurysm in 2009), Texas are back on the road for 2011 with a new tour. Catch them in Newmarket as they round-off what should be a memorable day at the races.

Also coming up at this year's Newmarket Nights:

Texas, Newmarket Nights, tomorrow. First race 6pm, last race 9.10pm. Performances starts 15-20 minutes after the last race. Tickets £16-£31 from 0844 579 3010 / www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk/concerts or on the door.

July 29 - The Wanted

The pop five-piece behind the hits All Time Low and Lose My Mind continue this summer's concerts. Brit Award winners, the band are working on their second album and are due to release a new track at the beginning of July.

August 5 - Boyzone

After reforming in 2007, Boyzone have established themselves as "firm favourites" at Newmarket, according to Newmarket Racecourses managing director Stephen Wallis. He said: "Ronan Keating has performed three times here as a solo artist and Boyzone have performed twice; each time ticket sales have been fantastic. Therefore its very fitting that they are part of the 25th anniversary line-up."

August 12 - Tom Jones

Pop legend Tom Jones is sure to draw a huge crowd when he takes to the stage in August, with a 46-year back catalogue of hits behind him which seem to appeal to everyone, everywhere, and of any age. Along with sustaining his popularity as a live performer and recording artist for more than four decades, he has garnered – at the age of 70 – the best reviews of his career for his recent album, Praise & Blame.

August 27 - Peter Andre

Pop returnee and jungle survivor Peter Andre rounds off the anniversary season. Andre hit a musical peak in the 1990s with Mysterious Girl, becoming the sixth-highest selling artist in the UK before returning to the public eye in 2004 when he appeared alongside Katie Price on I'm A Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here! His recent tours have proved sell-out successes, and this is likely to be no exception.

SUMMER NIGHTS: Texas are making a Newmarket Nights comeback, while Peter Andre, below left, and The Wanted are also appearing this year

Two for the price of one!

TWO guitar giants are joining forces at Haverhill Arts Centre. Gordon Giltrap and Woody Mann take the stage tonight at 7.30pm.

■ The Piatti Quartet, recently selected as Junior Fellows at the Royal Academy of Music and chosen for the Park Lane Group Young Artist series, will perform at the arts centre on Sunday at 7.30pm. The string quartet is fast emerging as one of the UK's foremost young quartets, making their Purcell Room debut in 2009 and twice performing live on BBC Radio.

■ Robert Wolfe, the ever-popular resident at Thursford, makes a return visit on Tuesday June 28 as the guest of the Haverhill Keyboard Club at 7.30pm.

■ Raymond Froggatt and his long-time musical companion Hartley Cain 'H' will take the road to Haverhill to perform a wonderfully intimate acoustic concert on Thursday June 30 June at 7.30pm.

■ Friday July 1 sees cult figure Bez from The Happy Mondays DJ a set of massive dance/rock and indie tunes from the 'Madchester' era, followed by The Total Stone Roses tribute to all the popular Stone Roses hits – She Bangs the Drums, Fools Gold, Waterfall, I Wanna Be Adored, This Is the One and Love Spreads among many others. Over 18s only, kicking off at 8.30pm.

Comedian tells tales from a terrifying trek

Mark Thomas: Extreme Rambling (Walking The Wall), The Junction, June 28

IN 2009, with just a backpack, boots and a cameraman, Mark Thomas – rambler, activist and comedian – set off on an unusual mission: to walk the entire length of the Israeli Separation Barrier.

Sleeping in barns and garages along the way, and encountering several “mildly terrifying” encounters with the Israeli army, it certainly wasn't your average weekend pup-to-pub potter. So what made him do it?

“Everyone from Obama to Osama mentions Palestine and the West Bank, and I felt I didn't know enough,” he explains. “Walking and talking is a great way to discover things. And part of the reason for doing the show was to engage people in these issues.”

Thomas discusses his Middle Eastern experience in his latest show, Extreme Rambling (Walking The Wall), which returns to The Junction next week.

“This was my first time in the Middle East. Every day was incredibly intense; we were detained by the Israeli army on our very first day. But I also noticed how beautiful a place it is. The land is incredibly fertile.

“People are showing you round groves of tangerines, and there are tortoises sitting on grass verges as soldiers scream at you. The place is full of irony.”

The wall, which encircles 300,000 Palestinians, was built in 2003 in the hope of containing Palestinian terrorism. It is patrolled by Israeli Army Police, who control the only exits.

This may sound rather serious for a stand-up show, but, as

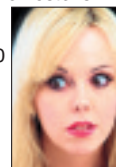

Thomas explains: “The comedy is in the stories. I go on a walk then come back and tell the stories. Some of them are funny, some are pretty extreme – but if anyone expects Michael McIntyre Live at the Apollo, get your refund.”

Double bill of laughs

THE Junction is serving-up a double bill of comedy tomorrow as Roisin Conaty and Joe Wilkinson take to the stage.

Winner of the Foster's Edinburgh Comedy Award 2010 for Best Newcomer, Roisin, right, has made a name for herself across the country for her distinctive character-based comedy.

She performs as one half of The Cakes and is working on a number of ideas for TV and radio. Joe, also pictured, is a critically acclaimed stand-up and comedy talent, most recently portraying the wonderfully creepy Dan in the new BBC Three sitcom Him and Her. Joe has also made star appearances on Russell Howard's Good News and Never Mind The Buzzcocks. Tickets are £12 (£10 concessions) and can be bought from (01223) 511511 or www.junction.co.uk.

The big film

certificate 12A 91m

THE trials of Mel Gibson, whose rants to an ex-girlfriend were caught on tape last year, seem like a curious case of life imitating art in this blackly humorous tale of a middle aged man's emotional breakdown.

Hopefully, lingering controversy won't overshadow Jodie Foster's third film behind the camera – her most assured effort to date.

Based on a script by Kyle Killen, The Beaver sensitively deals with themes of mental illness, suicide and self-belief, plumbing some very dark nooks of the humans psyche as the characters come to terms with their failings.

Foster treats carefully around the thorny subject matter, tempering occasional sentimentality with spiky humour and tearful recriminations.

Her ensemble cast rises to the challenge magnificently, anchored by a mesmerising performance from Gibson who performs almost the entire film with a glove puppet on his hand, alternating between his character's softly spoken voice and the guttural Cockney growl of the stuffed animal.

In other hands – pun intended – the double act of man and critter would be preposterous but there is a fearlessness to Gibson's portrayal that compels us to see the world through his weary eyes.

Businessman Walter Black (Gibson) presides over a toy company which desperately needs one innovative product to revive its ailing fortunes.

While the VP (Cherry Jones) holds the business together, Walter self-immolates with depression, making life unbearable for his wife Meredith (Jodie Foster), teenage son Porter (Anton Yelchin) and youngest boy Henry (Riley Thomas Stewart). Eventually, Meredith is forced to kick out her husband, hoping he will get professional help.

Following a failed suicide attempt, Walter returns to the homestead with a beaver glove puppet, through which he addresses the family as part of a bizarre form of therapy.

Porter is furious. “It takes you years to get him out of here then you let him come back the next night with a talking hamster?” he rages at his mother.

Meanwhile at school, Porter tries to impress the smartest girl in his class, Norah (Jennifer Lawrence). The Beaver sounds ridiculous yet on the screen, Foster, Gibson and co make this dysfunctional family snapshot work surprisingly well.

Killen's script glitters with some lovely turns of phrase (“Walter's ink that stains everything it touches”) and we come to invest almost as much emotion in the beaver as Walter.

A tasteful sex scene, with the puppet in attendance, ends with a hilarious image.

Yelchin and Oscar nominee Lawrence are an attractive pairing and bring out the grief and self-loathing that propels their teenagers on the path to redemption.

Ten tips to help save water

by Hannah Stephenson

I'm sure many of us basked in the glorious spring sunshine earlier this year, but beds, borders and pots were drying up before our eyes.

Now, after one of the driest springs on record, some areas are in a state of a drought, raising fears of a possible accompanying hosepipe ban.

The Environment Agency has said that East Anglia is an area of concern. Other regions may escape drought status, but we all need to do our bit to save what water we do have.

The Environment Agency advises householders not to let water run to waste while waiting for it to get hot. Collect it and use it to water your plants. Similarly, collect the running water in your shower before getting in.

Use water-retaining crystals when planting up container plants and invest in a water butt which you can put under a drainpipe or other suitable gully and re-use the water in your garden.

The Royal Horticultural society has come up with 10 tips to help save water this summer:

1. Use waste water from washing-up or rinsing vegetables for watering, as normal amounts of household soaps and detergents will not harm soil or plants.
2. Let your lawns go brown. They will recover when the rains return. Newly-sown and turfed lawns will require a lot of watering to be successful, so leave sowing or turfing until the autumn. Lawn seed companies are breeding deeper-rooted grasses that hopefully will stay green for longer. These will be worth considering, particularly in drier regions.

HOSE ABOUT THAT: Group pots for watering to reduce water loss.

3. Vegetables need moist soils to give their best. Water them at key growth stages. The response to water is especially marked when sweetcorn, peas and beans begin to flower, when the edible part of lettuces begins to form and when potatoes show flower buds, which initiate plenty of tubers. Most herbs are robust and better flavoured for a little drought. Digging in organic matter in winter can enable soils to hold enough water for crops to keep going for a month with no rain.

4. Mature trees, shrubs and climbers, hedges, fruit trees and bushes will not need watering during a drought. However, newly-planted trees, shrubs and climbers are extremely vulnerable and it is difficult to ensure the water applied at the surface works its way down to the roots. Don't leave hoses running all night – the water will either saturate the roots and possibly kill them or it will drain deeply below the root zone. Water should always be applied over the surface so it soaks the rootball and surrounding soil.

5. Fruit may remain small if not watered, but it should be sweet and well coloured. Cane fruit and strawberries will benefit by keeping the soil moist every two weeks. In future, adding mulches in winter will help improve the soil and retain more moisture.

6. In sunny summers install greenhouse and conservatory shading and ventilation to limit overheating and invest in a min-max thermometer.

7. By grouping pots, ideally in clusters of similar size, watering is made easier and moisture loss reduced. Mass pots for mutual shading and use the largest pots possible. As days lengthen and the sun rises, more plants, especially large-leaved ones, can be gathered in shadier areas. A saucer beneath the pot to retain run-off helps.

8. Don't dig new ground in summer if you can avoid it, as digging soil allows any remaining moisture to escape. Hoe off weeds as shallowly as you can, loosen soil with a fork and 'puddle' plants into the soil, adding a little liquid fertiliser. Adding nutrients helps plants make the best use of what moisture there is by encouraging extensive root growth.

9. Establishing new plants in borders during dry times can be difficult. Instead, pot them into slightly bigger pots and keep well watered and fed in light shade until the autumn planting season arrives.

10. Early summer perennials, irises for example, will survive on moisture left in the soil from winter. Give late summer perennials such as phlox one good watering in the summer as plants begin to flower, which should be enough. In the longer term, consider planting drought-resistant species in your borders such as grasses, Mediterranean-type shrubs such as thymes or phlomis, or sedums and other plants with spiky or succulent leaves.

Roll up for Sunday's Two Counties Motor Show!

THE News-sponsored Two Counties Motor Show is set to take place this Sunday between 9.30am and 4pm at Newmarket's Rowley Mile site.

With more dealerships, an even greater variety of mainstream and prestige models, trade stands and additional attractions for all members of your family, this year's event promises to be bigger and better than ever before.

You'll be able to view the very latest cars from a wide range of manufacturers and the exciting all-new Vauxhall Astra GTC will be delivered to the show inside a special Perspex case courtesy of Drive Vauxhall.

You'll find plenty of historic and classic cars to view featuring famous marques from the past and present along with high performance supercar exotica from Porsche, TVR, Noble, De Tomaso and Chevrolet. Also being showcased are custom American Hot Rods, Ford classics from the 60's plus original Minis and sporty Ford RS models. If you prefer two wheels, there will be a display of motorcycles of all types and sizes.

Your children and older kids amongst us can enjoy all the fun of the fairground and lots of family-friendly attractions while the many refreshment stalls will ensure that you won't get hungry or thirsty on your way around the show.

This massive regional event is organised by dedicated volunteers from the Lions clubs of Cambridge, Ely, Newmarket and Littleport. After direct costs are taken into consideration, all proceeds from the show are donated to local charities. This year's beneficiaries include the local branch of the Alzheimer's Society and Cambridge-based Centre 33, a charity that has supported young people up to the age of 25 in Cambridgeshire through a range of free and confidential services since 1981.

Spokesman for the organisers, Stephen Reeder, said: "This year our goal is to broaden the appeal of the Two Counties Motorshow to reach everyone. We've kept ticket prices as low as we can but we've aimed to raise as much money for this year's adopted charities as possible by getting as many visitors through the gates as we can.

"We've introduced some new features to the show. For instance, the first 10,000 adult ticket holders will be eligible to take part in the show's free grand prize draw."

Prizes include a magnificent limited edition Fortis B-42 Astronaut Black Mars 500 wrist watch worth more than £1,500 sponsored by Catherine Jones Jewellery of Cambridge (www.catherinejones.com), two pairs of tickets for "The Wanted" at Newmarket Nights on Friday, July 29 sponsored by Newmarket Racecourses (www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk), an adult mountain bike sponsored by Drive Vauxhall Bury St. Edmunds (www.drive-vauxhall.co.uk) and a five-day Leisure Pass for the David Lloyd Leisure Centre courtesy of Turners Toyota. You can also register to enter the prize draw via www.cambridge-news.co.uk.

See you there!

&gt;&gt; Cricket: Adams Harrison Midweek League

Ellis agony in runs bonanza

IT'S not often that a batsman scores 125 in the Midweek League, his team scores 198 – and they lose.

But that was the result for Gary Ellis and Horseheath when they were beaten in a Division Two runs feast at Long Melford.

The home side almost had their own centurion, Stuart Whitehart falling short on 92. But with Ashley Skeggs making 70 and John Harvey an unbeaten 46, they were able to record a match-winning 222 for 2.

However, Ellis was one of three ton-up boys in the division. Martyn Farrant smashed 112 and Chris Baldwin 82 as Hundon battered Helions Bumpstead, racking up 246 for 5 and restricting their opponents to 103 for 9.

And, at Halstead, Cherry Tree stormed to victory on the back of 103 from Ben Atkinson. They totalled 183 for 5 and then whipped the home side out for 84, Matt Hoadley proving almost unplayable with a staggering 5 for 3.

In Division One, Babraham piled on the agony for fading champions Haverhill, the home side picking up a valuable win in the basement battle after chasing down the visitors 100 for 6 at 104 for 7.

However, Haverhill have reached the final of the Adams Harrison Cup, Luke Youngs (91), Adam Dellar (30) and Anthony Phillips (31) firing them to 167 for 3 in the semi-final against Weston Colville.

Dan Pass then turned the screw, finishing with 5 for 11 as Colville subsided to 79.

Stuart Ketteridge weighed in with 3 for 26 to seal a final place against Sawston.

Haverhill's second team are looking good for promotion from Division 3A. Steve Taylor (37) and Phil Jones (39) helped them to 150 for 4 with Jack Mitchenson (3 for 16) and Ryan Fowler (3 for 21) pegging Hundon II to 99.

Brockley maintained their promotion push by defeating Highpoint, who seem to have lost their early-season form. The home side scored 192 for 8 but Sam Mitchell (26) and Steve Oglesby (25) could only get Highpoint to 145 for 8.

Wratting Lions and Gestingthorpe swap places at the foot of the table after the Lions battled to 81 for 4, thanks to Terry Pinkney's 30.

Gestingthorpe's 76 was based on Jack Pawsey's 30, but his team-mates came to grief against Richard Ellis, who wound up with 4 for 15.

Andrew Macdonald blasted 77 to help Abington to 159 for 1 – Guy Ennew (38) and Dave Furlow (30 not out) provided valuable support – against Division 3B leaders Shelfords.

The visitors looked to be on target to record victory, though, as Paul Mortlock worked towards 55. But once he fell Shelfords' hopes dived, Harry Franklin taking three wickets to tie the leaders to 136.

Mill Green's revival continued, scoring 95 for 6 in response to Balsham's 94 for 9 with Jack Squires taking 3 for 26.

Teenage sensations put on Sunday best

HAVERHILL'S Sunday second team brightened a gloomy weekend with their sixth win on the trot.

They maintained their unbeaten start to the Hunts County Bats Sunday League, Division Four campaign with a 35-run defeat of Long Melford at the Manor Ground.

And with the club's Saturday league programme and the Sunday first XI falling foul of the weather, the seconds showed glimpses of a bright future with all but one of their side under 19 – possibly the youngest senior side in the club's history.

Jamie Boulton, who was making his debut, came in after the fall of an early wicket, but showed no signs of nerves with a fine 29.

Ben Wilkins added 21 but the main knocks in their respectable 173 for 7 came from Craig Williams (32) and James Craig (38 not out).

Knowing they needed to keep it tight, opening bowlers Ryan Fowler and David Saville bowled the first 10 overs for just 23 runs, albeit without any wickets.

A double bowling change brought on Tom Saville (9-1-39-1) and skipper Steve Saville, who made the breakthrough on the way to a match-winning 6 for 30. Adam Curtis (5-0-28-2) weighed in with the key wicket of Kemp for 43 as Long Melford were whittled out for 138.

Of the three Saturday sides, only the first team were able to make a start in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division One home clash against Mildenhall.

In a match reduced to 35 overs a side, skipper Adam Dellar hammered the ball to all parts in the latter part of the innings, racing to an unbeaten 84 out of 161 for 4. However, further downpours during tea meant the game had to be abandoned.

■ The Saturday first team head to Abberton on Saturday for a clash against the bottom-of-the-table side, while the seconds hope to avoid a third consecutive washout when they entertain Elmstead Grasshoppers II (1pm) in Division Six. The Wanderers travel to Cokenach II.

On Sunday, the first team are at home to Worlington (1.30pm) while the seconds go to Battisford II.

PETER Betts is anticipating a bumper crowd for Haverhill Rovers' first pre-season friendly at home to Championship club Ipswich Town.

"It will be great to have this match,"

"It's a great opportunity for people to come and see some decent opposition. Hopefully, we'll be able to pull a lot of people in."

Tickets for the match, which will kick off at 7.30pm, went on sale this week and are available from Haverhill Town

Lee-thal Ingram KO's Horseheath

LEE Ingram snatched a first victory of the season from Horseheath's grasp as Kimbolton & Catworth ruined the visitors' day in their Cricket Stick CCA League, Division One clash.

The away side, who had lost all their previous six fixtures, dismissed the hosts for just 119 thanks to good bowling from vice-captain Gary Ellis (4 for 17) and Martin Giles (3 for 15).

Grant Biddle top-scored with 29 for Kimbolton, while his son and captain James Biddle (26) and Sahar Wijesekera (28) were the only other batsmen to reach double figures. However, the basement boys were unable to grab their chance to taste success as Ingram, who claimed cracking figures of 5 for 7, caused their downfall.

Mick Ketteridge's 25 was the highlight as they were bundled out for 98 in the 31st over, with Tom Gilthorpe (2 for 36) and Martin Moore (2 for 13) also among the wickets.
